Marks: 80

PART-A

(PASSAGE)

- I. Read the poem and answer the questions.

1X5=5 marks

A little girl called Irene Pempa
Was known to have an awful temper.
For, if Irene didn't have her say,
And get what she wanted in every way,
She would create a terrible scene—
She'd lie on the ground, she'd cry, she'd scream
And her tantrum would go on all day
Till her family let her have her way.

Then, one day, Irene met her double
And, sure enough, this led to trouble.
The other girl was just like Irene—
She'd also cry, she'd also scream.
And throw her arms and legs about
And, like Irene, she'd rant and shout!

Now, Irene saw how bad she'd been
Every time she made a scene.
She watched her double in a daze
And from that day she changed her ways.

1. Why did Irene cry and scream?
2. How did Irene behave when she had a tantrum?

3. How did Irene's family deal with her bad temper?
4. What did Irene learn from the girl who was just like her?
5. Why should we control our anger?
